Subject: RIN 1210-AB32 NOT A GOOD PROPOSAL

Dear Department of Labor,

I am a retired investor that invests my IRA for the years ahead. Investing in covered call options is a conservative way to make income from stocks I own.

Before I sold covered call options, I took several classes and training from my broker, Fidelity. Then I eased into the program of selling covered call options.

Please do not restrict how I invest in my IRA account. Intelligent option investing can be a more conservative way to invest than other methods, especially in this low interest rate environment.

Please do not restrict option investment strategies for my IRA.

Thank you,

Steven Stark
